The Authors

Mort Mitchnick, a graduate of McMaster University and the University of Toronto Faculty of Law, is a senior arbitrator and mediator. Formerly Chair of the Ontario Labour Relations Board, as well as national counsel to the law firm Borden Ladner Gervais, he lectures and writes extensively on labour law and labour arbitration. His writings include “Union Security and the Charter”, and “Recent Developments in Compulsory Unionism”, published in the International Labour Review.

Brian Etherington, a graduate of McMaster University, Queen’s University and Yale, is an arbitrator and mediator. A professor at the Faculty of Law of the University of Windsor until his retirement in 2016, he taught labour arbitration, labour law, individual employment law and criminal law. Professor Etherington has frequently written about, and acted as a consultant on, administrative, constitutional, criminal and trade law, as well as labour and employment law. Editor-in-chief of the Canadian Labour and Employment Law Journal between 1995 and 2004, he is co-author of Labour Law in Canada, a division of the International Encyclopedia of Labour Law, and a member of the Canadian Labour Law Casebook Group.

Boris Bohuslawsky is a graduate of the University of Toronto, Queen’s University, and Osgoode Hall Law School. A senior legal editor and writer at Lancaster House, he is the managing editor of the Canadian Labour and Employment Law Journal and the Labour Arbitration Yearbook, as well as a contributing editor of Contract Clauses Online. 